

The background features a repeating geometric pattern of interlocking lines in a light beige color. Four stylized hanging lanterns are positioned around the central text: a purple one in the top left, a red and orange one in the top right, a red and orange one in the bottom left, and a red and orange one in the bottom right. Each lantern is suspended by a thin line from a small ring at the top.

Malaysia as a multicultural society

By: Yi En and Shan Nie and Aisha

Table of Contents

01

Introduction

What is multiculturalism and what kinds of cultures are in Malaysia?

02

Pros and Cons

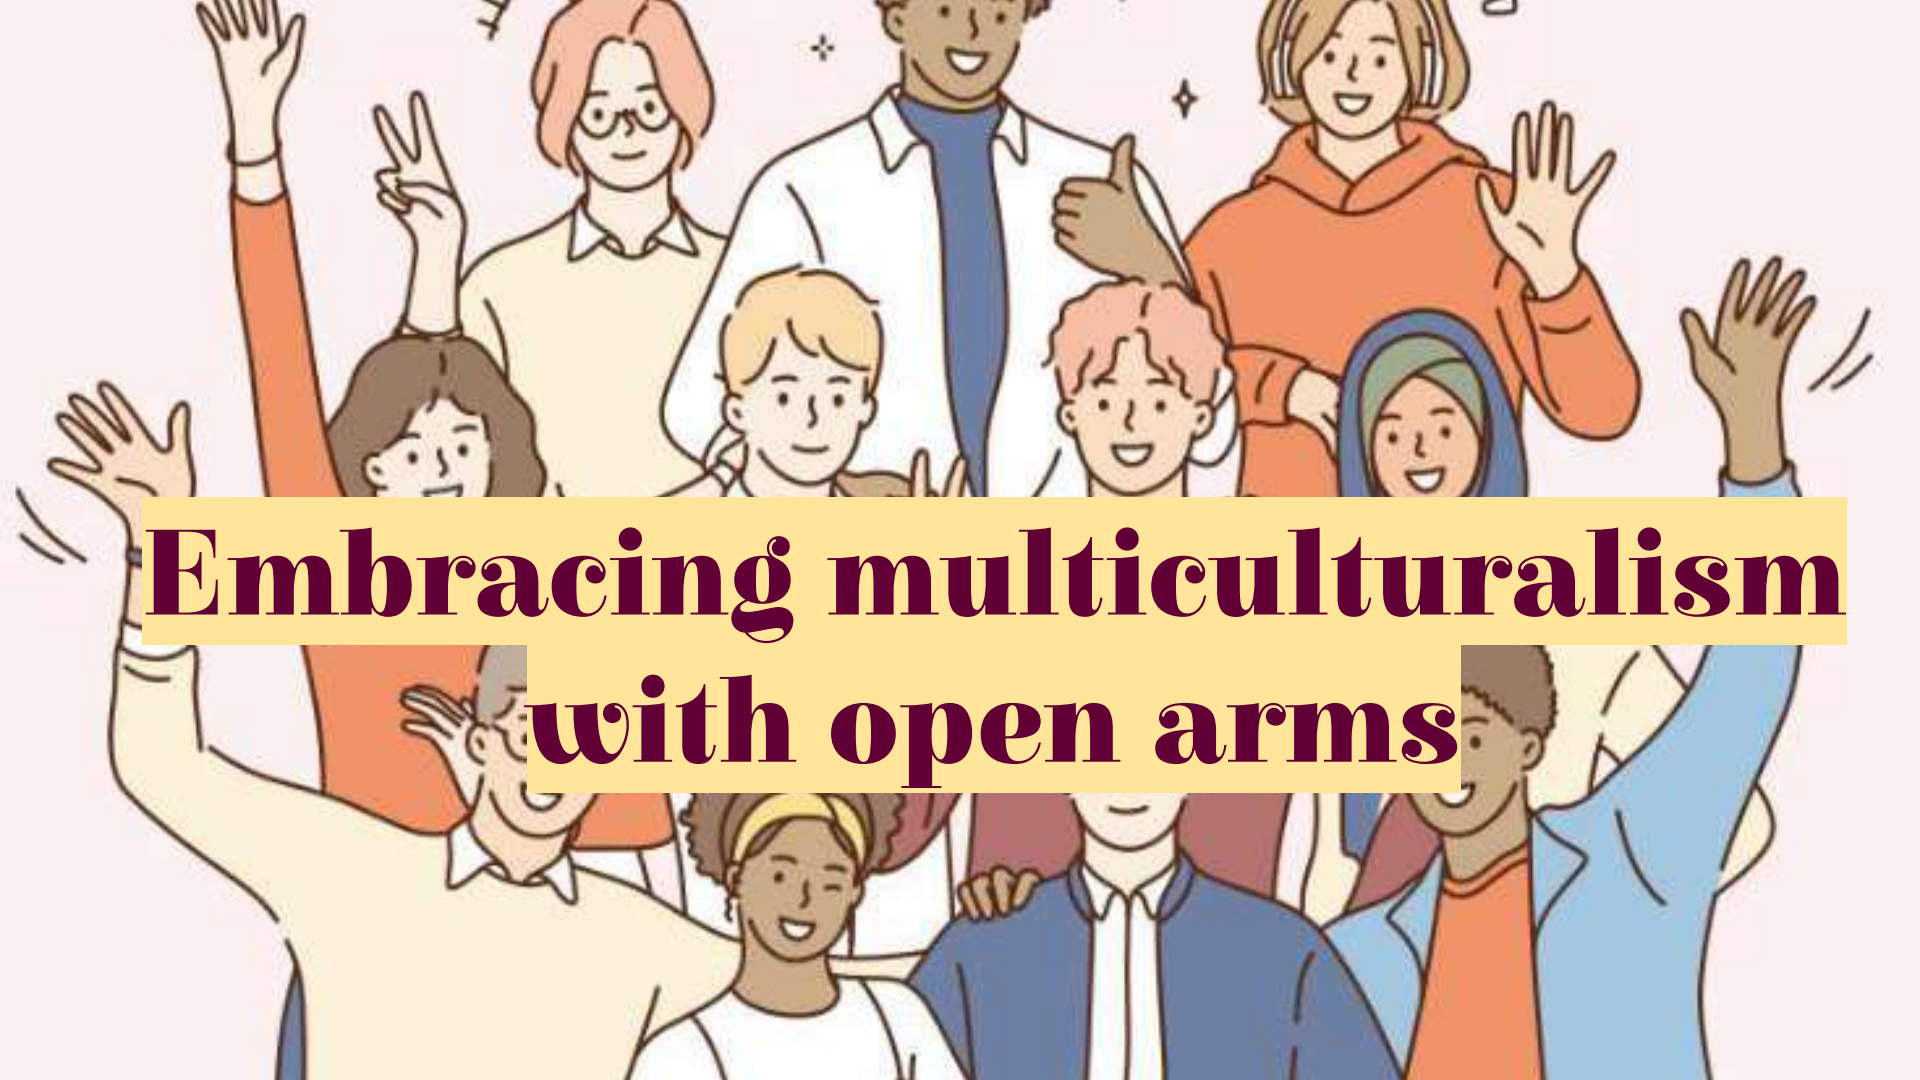

Discuss the pros and cons of multiculturalism

03

Conclusion

Final thoughts

Embracing multiculturalism with open arms

Make friends. Get to know your friends' families and see how their customs and traditions differ from yours.

Don't stereotype. assumptions make people feel like you don't see them as a human or an individual, just as a representative of an exotic culture.

Appreciate the differences
Differences between us are what make life so interesting. So embrace it!

